Agenda Item No.	:	2
Agenda	:	To discuss the revision of syllabus of Law of Crimes Paper I: Principles of Criminal Law and Indian Penal Code, BL-505
Discussion	:	It was discussed that the course content may be re-organized in the opinion of all the faculty members. Therefore it was unanimously decided that the re-organization of content is essential and for the same Ms. Afreen Almas the subject teacher agreed to do the homework and submit the same well in time so that it can be implemented w.e.f. the next session.
Resolution	:	The re-organization of content is essential and for the same Ms. Afreen Almas the subject teacher, will submit her report so that the changes may took place before next session.
Agenda Item No.	:	3
Agenda	:	To discuss the revision of syllabus of Law of Crime Paper II (Criminal Procedure Code), BL-603
Discussion	:	Dr. Prem Chandra enlightens the house about technical problems related to Cr.PC (BL-603). All the faculty members participated in the discussion. Dr. Ram Naval suggested that this course can be divided in two courses for batter understanding. It was further discussed that the part of criminal procedure related to drafting pleading of conveyancing can be taught along with Cr.PC (BL-603).
Resolution	:	It was unanimously decided that the re-organization of content is essential and the feasibility will be taken care of by Dr. Prem Chandra, the subject teacher regarding the issue discussed as above who agreed to do the homework and will submit his report so that the changes may took place before next session.
Agenda Item No.	:	4
Agenda	:	To discuss the revision of syllabus of Law of Civil Procedure & Specific Relief Act, BL-701
Discussion	:	The issue was related to two propositions, first is regarding nomenclature and another is organization of content of syllabus. It was unanimously agreed upon that nomenclature is required to be modified and specific relief act should be added in minor act BL-602 and accordingly the syllabus is required to be modified for BL-602. The another proposition regarding, organization of the content which was not as per the written code but as per the practice in the court in present syllabus in opinion of the subject teacher needs to be corrected. A healthy discussion took place and with a 7:2 majority it was concluded that it should remain as it is but at the same time it was considered that because of the widen scope of subject and length of the contents in the course it may be in two semester & can be divided in two courses for batter understanding. It was further discussed that the part of Civil Procedure related to drafting pleading of conveyancing can be taught along with CPC (BL-701) as guided and suggested by Hon'ble Justice Rajesh Chandra Sir.
Resolution	:	It was unanimously decided that the re-organization of content is essential and the feasibility will be taken care of by Ms. Ana Sisodia, who agreed to do the homework and will submit her report so that the changes may took place before next session. It was further concluded that she will also look after the nomenclature and also do the needful modification in Minor Act course if required.
Agenda	:	A maximum of 20% academic flexibility to modify the course content is the need of time.
Discussion	:	The idea of academic flexibility with a Law Teacher while teaching is not new being changing nature of the subject. The issue was discussed and it was suggested by all that in Law Subjects teacher should be given academic flexibility with regard to modification/addition of the topics as per Supreme Court Judgments and Legislative Enactments. It was shared that there should be such flexibility with the demand of time specifically for Law Subjects in opinion of Hon'ble Justice Rajesh Chandra. For the same faculties are expected to submit the modification with in 10 day after allotment of subjects.

Resolution	:	A maximum of 20% academic flexibility to modify the course content should be given to Law Faculty Members.
Agenda Item No.	:	6
Agenda	:	Question Papers on outcome based (Bloom Taxonomy), in accordance to agenda no-6 of Examination Committee meeting dated 27.09.2022
Discussion	:	The issue was discuss in detail and was concluded that in present evaluation process through Bloom Taxonomy is not feasible but to start with we can adopt it in the following manner. 1.
